

Walter Black

Walter Black, aged 72, died at the Fulton County Medical Center on Tuesday morning, April 24, 1962.

Born in McConnellsburg, Fulton Co., Pa., on March 3, 1890. He was the son of the late P. Fred and Catherine (Lehman) Black.

Mr. Black was a retired employee of Fairchild Aircraft Corp. With this company he had worked for sixteen years before his retirement. Before working at Fairchild he had worked in this vicinity as a carpenter, painter, and paper hanger. This line of work he had followed ever since his young manhood.

Walter will long be remembered for his active part, he had taken in the church and civic affairs before his impaired health kept him from doing so. He was active in church choirs, and also the community band which was in the McConnellsburg area a number of years ago. He was a member of the St. Thomas community band. He was also a member of a string band which he and a number of his friends and relatives had organized. We can well say that Walter was an all around musician, a fond lover of music. He was a member of the McConnellsburg Volunteer fire company for quite a number of years.

Mr. Black was, for many years, a member of the St. Pauls Lutheran church of McConnellsburg and later in life he changed his membership to the Methodist
